INTERVIEWING TIPS FORM

Before beginning an interview, always take time to get acquainted with the person you are about to interview. Getting acquainted takes a lot of time and the more acquainted the interview and interviewee become, the better the interview. Interviewing a traditional person may take hours, days, or weeks to get acquainted, but it is necessary to respect the pace of the traditional person. This will help both people feel more comfortable about the interviewing situation. Since the other person will be doing most of the talking once the interview gets underway, you should probably begin by telling him or her something about yourself. You may wish to adapt the following format for your own purposes:

Hello, my name is
I represent the	(program/school). You may want to tell t	he person about your program or school and some of the duties	or responsibilities you have, as a student or teacher, and about the	Indian students or other students you work with, as an ex	ample.
I am a	(name of tribe/band if American Indian.) I have	children or brothers or sisters, and live in	_(city or town)
Becoming more aware of	another culture is important to me as a student/teacher. I need to	ask you if it is all right if I include your name on any inforn	nation that is used for lesson plans or a report in class? ( If the per	son is reluctant to have his or her name used, assure them that you	will indicate on the lesson plan or report that this was an interview	w done with a local person from the(tribe/clan/band) and no	t mention a name). The person being interviewed can provide per	sonal biographical data: name, tribe/band, age
On the following pages are sever	cal sample interview formats. Each contains a series of questions y	ou may wish to use or consult in conducting interviews with India	n people. These are merely suggestions to help you get started. Ye	ou may well want to add some questions, omit some or just plain do it your own way. Follow your interest and use your best judgment.

(Modified from Handbook for Cultural Curriculum Developers – Making Education Relevant for Contemporary Youth, July 1998. American Indian Institute College of Continuing Education, University of Oklahoma.)

Interview Topic: Growing Up as an American Indian
Interviewe	er: Interviewee:
Date:	Location:
1.	Biographical data
	• What is your name?
	• Where and when were you birth ( birthdate?)
	• What is your tribe/band?
2.	Are you a member of a clan? If so, what is it?
3.	Do you have a name given by your tribe? If so, what is it and what does it mean? (Some tribe exchange that information with non-Indians readily.)	es do not
4.	Do you have any brothers or sisters? If so, please tell me about them and what they were like	when all of you were growing up, or are growing up now?
5.	Please tell me a little about the adults in your family, about the people that were important in	bring you up.

6.	What did you feel are/were the most important things you were taught as a child by your parents or grandparents?
7.	What were some of the "Indian ways" that you remember being taught as a child or are taught now?
8. impo	In what ways do American Indian parents today teach their children "Indian Ways?" Do you think this is rtant?
9. espec	What were you like as a child? Did you have a nickname? What games did you like to play? What did you ially like doing?
10.	Please describe one of the happiest times you remember having when you were a child.
11.	Can you remember a traditional Indian/Tribal/band story that your parents or grandparents told you as a child? What was it?
12.	When you were young, how did the image of Indians portrayed by movies or books influence the way you thought about yourself?
13. India	What is the most important thing about your Indian heritage that you can teach your own children and other n children?
14.	What words of wisdom could you give young Indian people who are growing up today?

INTERVIEW TOPIC: GOING TO SCHOOL

Interviewer:	Interviewee:
Date:	Interviewee: Location
1.	Biographical data  • What is your name?
	• Where and when were you born? (birth date?)
	• What is your tribe/band?
2.	Are you a member of a clan? If so, what is it?
3.	Do you have an Indian name? If so, what is it and what does it mean?
4.	Some tribal members do not share that information with non-Indians.)
5.	What schools did you attend when you were growing up? Where were they located?
6.	Do you mind describing these schools?
7.	How was school for you? What did you like BEST about school? Least?

8.	What kind of student were you? Explain.
9. you?	Which of your teachers do you remember with great fondness? What was it about them that made them "good" teachers to
10.	What language was spoken in your home when you were growing up?
	When did you learn English/French? What about your tribal/band language?
11.	Do you have any regrets as you think back to your days in school? Please explain.
12.	Compare the education you received at school to the education you received from life.
13.	Did you ever learn about Indian culture and tribes/bands in school? How do you feel about this? If Indian culture classes were taught, what was the most valuable thing you discovered?
14.	What advice would you give to Indian children and young people who are attending school today?